DEFENDANTS TIMOTHY ROBINSON

Defendants Timothy Robinson and Michael Jones (“Defendants”) respond to Plaintiff’s Motion for Leave to Continue the Depositions of Tim Robinson and Micheal [sic] Jones (“Plaintiff’s Motion”) and Plaintiff’s Memorandum in Support of Plaintiff’s Motion (“Plaintiff’s Memorandum”) as follows:

BACKGROUND

The facts surrounding Plaintiff’s action are relatively straight-forward. Plaintiff alleges he was returning to Portland on April 13, 2016 via an Amtrak train when he was stopped and subsequently arrested by Portland police officers at the Amtrak station in downtown Portland. (See Amended Complaint, ¶ 10.) (Docket No. 16.) (“Amended Complaint.”) These particular facts are undisputed. (See City Defendants’ Answer and Affirmative Defenses to Amended Class Action Complaint, ¶ 10.) (Docket No. 18.) (“Answer.”) However, Plaintiff alleges the stop and arrest by the City’s police officers was done without reasonable suspicion or probable cause. (See Amended Complaint, ¶ 10.) The City Defendants, on the other hand, have answered that both the stop and arrest were supported by reasonable suspicion and probable cause, respectively. (See Answer, ¶ 10, 76, 77.) In sum, this action is about the legality of a stop and arrest by Portland police officers.

RE-OPENING DEPOSITIONS

Plaintiff argues that the Court should re-open the depositions of Defendants Robinson and Jones because his previous attorney, Mr. Berman, did not ask the ten pages of questions Plaintiff wanted Mr. Berman to ask. (Plaintiff’s Memorandum, page 2, ¶¶ 1, 4, and 5.) Mr. Berman, however, chose the deposition schedule and chose the amount of time he needed to question the City’s police officers. (Plaintiff’s Memorandum, page 2, ¶ 2.) When Mr. Berman exceeded the allotted time with both Sergeant Robinson and Officer Jones, he continued to examine each witness beyond that time. (Plaintiff’s Memorandum, page 2, ¶¶ 4, 5.) This was done without objection. Similarly, when Mr. Berman fell ill, he concluded the depositions for that day. (Id.) This was also acceded to by Defendants' counsel.

These choices show Mr. Berman was capable and willing to adjust the deposition schedule to his and his client's needs. Clearly, Mr. Berman completed Sergeant Robinson's deposition because he began Officer Jones' deposition. Likewise, Mr. Berman completed Officer Jones' deposition because he began Officer Devlin's deposition. (Plaintiff's Memorandum, page 2, ¶ 6.)

Plaintiff's dissatisfaction with his former attorney's choices is between Plaintiff, Mr. Berman, and the Oregon State Bar. Defendants Robinson and Jones should not be made to appear again for a second deposition.

However, in the event the Court grants Plaintiff's Motion, Defendants Robinson and Jones respectfully ask the Court to limit each of their depositions to one (1) hour in length. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c)(1)(B). Given that these Defendants have already appeared and been examined, one hour is appropriate and proportional to the needs of the case. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).
